

THE BUSINESS PROSPECT

INCREASING IN BRIGHTNESS AND
VERY ENCOURAGING.New Railroads Under Construction—
Good News From the Iron, Coal,
Textile and Other Industries.

(SPECIAL TO THE APPEAL.)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., November 15.—Within the last six days regular building schemes of a somewhat gigantic character have been unearthed, which if undertaken by capital will create a demand for iron and steel railway building material and lumber, and will very likely start prices on the up-grade during the spring and winter. In addition to these large projects there are a number of smaller enterprises involving the construction in the aggregate of a large amount of mileage in the Middle and a few of the Eastern and Southern States. The effect of these announcements will be to stimulate the placing of contracts for early delivery on the part of the numerous iron and steel. Within a few days contracts have been placed for 50,000 tons of steel rails, for between 2000 and 4000 tons of bridge iron, and negotiations have been pending this week for large supplies of foreign material, including machinery and metal.

The industrial condition generally throughout the country is improving day by day. Smaller manufacturing interests are taking the hint, and are increasing their productions, with a view of accumulating as heavy stocks as they feel it safe to carry. Another unmistakable evidence of this tendency is to be found in the fact that liberal loans are now in process of negotiation between large Eastern financial concerns and Western borrowers. The demand for machinery, especially for mills, factories, and mines, has assumed larger proportions during the last few days, and Eastern and Southern mining interests are in the market for a large supply of additional machinery to further mine operations in some of the new fields.

The anthracite coal trade remains very strong and active, and there are scarce, both on Eastern and Western account. The combination met this week in New York and decided not to advance prices. A bituminous combination was formed in Baltimore this week with a view to advance prices on the contract to be made in the near future. The competition between the five and six competing coal fields have depressed prices.

The latest advices from the textile and manufacturing establishments of the New England indicate a fresh influx of orders for late winter and early spring, for woolen and worsted goods, for hosiery, and all kinds of dress goods. The textile manufacturers predict a remarkably busy winter in all branches. Total appearance wool has reached its highest point, and a reaction is probable. This fact will stimulate activity and strengthen confidence. Notwithstanding the business activity we have had the volume would have been larger during the past two weeks, but for the apprehension that prices were advancing too rapidly.

During the past week the influx of orders for boots and shoes has been in excess of the average of the previous weeks, and shops are running full handed.

Nearly all our manufacturing establishments are increasing and improving. The motive power by the purchase of engines and machinery of enlarged capacity.

The trade combinations and combinations of employers of labor are being quietly effected without attracting much notice. A wide-spread glass syndicate has been formed to advance or depress the price of glass. The manufacturers of hardware materials have also combined in several lines. The building trade prospects for the coming six months point to a large and more general employment of labor than last winter. Controllers of capital are already negotiating for large investments in home and manufacturing building next year.

The combinations of employers against organized labor will assume very extensive proportions during the coming winter.

The Last Confederate Check.

St. Louis, Mo., November 15.—A special from Dallas, Tex., says: Probably the last check in existence on the Confederate States of America was exhibited yesterday by Col. J. F. Caldwell, of this city. It is an interesting relic of the war, and is a check for $30,000, drawn on the Confederate States Depository at Columbus by Wm. Gilchrist, Quartermaster, in favor of Col. T. S. Ford. It is dated April 14, 1865, five days after the surrender of Lee. The check was delivered to Col. Caldwell, who was the Chief Clerk of the Depository during the war, and was the only one of the kind ever issued. The letter was delivered in the hands of the check, and the news of Lee's surrender had reached the retreating Confederates.

A BOARDING HOUSE TRAGEDY.

Seven Boarders Fight Desperately Over a Chicken.

NEW YORK, November 15.—A boarding house at No. 59 Oden street, Newark, is kept by John B. Witten, who also runs a bar, while his wife, who weighs about 250 pounds, has charge of the house. There are eight boarders. Seven of the boarders were at the table last night, and Mrs. Witten was busy at a side table preparing some water crepes when a roast chicken was placed on the supper table. Immediately one of the boarders reached over, and, seizing the fowl, placed it on his plate. In doing so, however, he brushed some of the crepes, and, as the boarders were all hungry, a fight broke out. The fight was a desperate one, and the boarders were all injured. The fight was over in a few minutes, and the boarders were all taken to the hospital. The fight was a tragedy, and the boarders were all injured.

GEN. CROOK.

Disatisfied With his Superiors, Asks to Resign.

CHICAGO, Ill., November 14.—A special from El Paso, Tex., published this morning says: On March 28th, last, Gen. Crook telegraphed Gen. Sheridan from near San Bernardino, Mex., that the only proposition that the hostiles would entertain was that they should be sent East for a year, and that they should return to the reservation upon the old status, or that they should return to the war path. Gen. Crook accepted their surrender upon the first proposition and telegraphed for instructions. Gen. Sheridan replied that the President could not assent to the terms and instructed Gen. Crook to renew negotiations for unconditional surrender. On April 1st, in reply to a telegram from Gen. Sheridan disapproving his plans, Gen. Crook answered that he believed his plan was the most likely to succeed in the end. He concluded: "I may be, however, am too much wedded to my own views in this matter, and as I have spent nearly eight years of the hardest work of my life in this department, I respectfully request that I may be relieved from its command."

The facts have been received from an authoritative source.

The Missouri Legislature.

St. Louis, November 14.—The latest information from the office of the Secretary of State is to the effect that the next Legislature will stand: House—Democrats, 88; Republicans, 60; Union Labor, 2. Senate—Democrats, 34; Republicans, 18. This gives the Democrats a majority on joint ballot of 50. The vote on the State ticket is not yet complete, nor have full returns of the Congressional districts yet been made.

"One of the First to Use It."

Blair Springs, Ala., January 13, 1886. Acid Iron Earth Company.

GENTLEMEN—Over twelve months ago I was suffering greatly from indigestion. I had not eaten a meal in over a month that did not cause me trouble for several hours. When I commenced taking the Acid Iron Earth I took my first dose immediately before eating a very hearty dinner and had not a symptom of indigestion. It also acted finely on my liver, which was very torpid at the time, setting up a gentle laxative and clearing my complexion. I was one of the first to use the Acid Iron Earth and prescribe it for my patients. I find it invaluable after breaking up chills, as it will prevent their return. I also consider it one of the finest tonics known.

SAM FRISBIE, M. D.

The Mobile and Ohio St. Louis Improvement.

St. Louis, Mo., November 15.—The Mobile and Ohio railroad has completed all its arrangements for fall facilities at and connecting with the union depot in this city. The first train leaves for the Mobile on the order of things were the Mobile and New Orleans express, which crossed the bridge and ran into the city last night. All trains will hereafter start from and arrive at the union depot, and this road will henceforth be on a par with all other lines which enter the city.

Would Not Be Without It.

MORTON, Ala., February 13, 1886. Acid Iron Earth Company.

GENTLEMEN—I have been suffering for years with dyspepsia, and after trying everything I could hear of, without cure, I thought I would give the Extract Acid Iron Earth a trial. After taking two bottles I find myself almost entirely cured. My little girl, only 11 years old, was taken with a severe sore throat. I tried several remedies, which failed to cure her. I then resorted to Acid Iron Earth, which cured her immediately, after gargling twice. I would not be without it in the house. Respectfully yours,

MRS. JAMES M. WOODS.

Residence No. 14 Madison st., 34 e. Conception.

Michael Davis.

Pittsburg, Mo., November 15.—Michael Davis, the founder of the Land League, arrived here this morning from the West. He was met at the depot by a committee of Irish citizens, who escorted him to the Hotel Anderson. Tonight he will be tendered a reception at the Fayette Hotel.

The Bare Lizard Dwyer Dead.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., November 14.—A special says: Lizzie Dwyer, the well known race mare, the property of Ed Corrigan, died at Lexington today, of pneumonia. She had been out of form during the past season.

HARVARD AND PRINCETON

THEIR RELATIONS VERY MUCH STRAINED.

As a Result of the Poem of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes and the Speech of Lowell.

NEW YORK, November 15.—The schism which has descended to shake the relations between Harvard and Princeton as a result of the poem of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes and the utterances of James Russell Lowell on the occasion of Harvard's celebration a week ago, was brought to the attention of Dr. Holmes last evening. He decided to be interviewed, but over his own signature, in a letter to the editors of the Boston Post, he says:

To the Editor of the Boston Post:

Sir—The only reference to Princeton in my poem was two lines, which were written and read exactly as they are found in the printed copy published with the Atlantic Monthly.

"O' Princeton's sands the far reflections

Where mighty Edwards stamped his iron heel."

The "sands" in the newspaper copy of extracts were only to separate the independent paragraphs, unless some of the papers may have seen fit to strike out lines which they chose to leave out for reasons of their own. I cannot believe that the excellent and venerable President of Princeton would take offense at the suggestion that a ray of reflection of the poet from Harvard, which lighted the first torch in the wilderness, and has certainly been one of the centers of illumination for two centuries and a half, has blended with the other lights which made Princeton a brilliant and conspicuous among our educational institutions. The "sands" of New Jersey were only a geological reminiscence of a recent visit to that State, and reference to Edwards was intended to typify the profound impress which the intellectual world of Princeton among our educational institutions. The "sands" of New Jersey were only a geological reminiscence of a recent visit to that State, and reference to Edwards was intended to typify the profound impress which the intellectual world of Princeton among our educational institutions.

A World correspondent said to Dr. McCosh yesterday: "Doctor, I wish to ask you a few questions about your recent visit to Harvard."

"Well," he said, "the paper by James Russell Lowell was a very beautiful and a very wise one. He drew the same objections that I had done against the indiscriminate election of Greek as a subject required in order to confer the B.A. and M.A. degrees."

"Was there not a peculiar reference to Princeton in Dr. Holmes's poem?"

"I heard what he said, but of course I did not take it down. I am anxious to have an authentic record of what he said about Princeton in his poem, but I am not prepared to say anything."

"Was not Princeton snubbed in the conferring of degrees?"

I have written to the secretary of Harvard University, but am not prepared to give that letter at present to the public, as I hope that explanations will be given which shall clear up the whole subject. I did not expect or wish a degree for myself, as I got an LL.D. from Harvard when I came to this country; but I did rather think it strange when degrees were conferred to the colleges around us—to Yale, Columbia, Pennsylvania and Johns Hopkins, six to Yale, three or four to Columbia—that no honor was bestowed on any member of Princeton College. I have reported to the professors here, and find they are bearing it calmly, and believe that the public will understand it."

The line in Dr. Holmes's poem which caused the venerable president of Princeton College to leave the Harvard celebration and shake the dust of Cambridge from his feet are as follows:

"As once of old from Ida's lofty height,
The flash of signal fires across the night,
So Harvard's banners shade its upward gaze
Till every watch tower shows its kindling blaze."Caught from a spark and fanned by every gale,
A brighter radiance glows the roof of Yale;
Amherst and Williams shed their banners
And Lowell answers through her groves of pines:O' Princeton's sands the far reflections
Where mighty Edwards stamped his iron heel.Nay, on the hill where old beliefs were bound
Fast as if Styx had girt them nine times round
Burns such light that trembling souls inquire
If the whole church of Calvin is on fire.Well may they ask, for what so brightly
As a dyed thread that nothing ever learns?
This link by link is knit the shining chain
Laid by the torch of Harvard's hallowed plain."

Pittsburg Booming.

PITTSBURG, Pa., November 15.—For the first time in several years there is no strike of any consequence in Pittsburg or the surrounding district.

Every furnace, ironmill, glass factory, tannery, oleomargarine factory, foundry, cooper shop, oil mill and other factory is in full operation, and if the coal mines are not running it is for want of water, not of orders. Labor leaders claim that there is a larger proportion of the workmen of Pittsburg employed at the present time than in any other city in the Union. They attribute the absence of strikes principally to the introduction of natural gas, and the government of the workmen of this locality by sliding or yearly scales.

To Err is Human.

But it is positively inexcusable to administer or take narcotic or potent sedatives to relieve intransigence of the nerves, the easily discoverable cause of which is simply indigestion. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the remedy indicated when the nervous system is weak, and consequently super-sensitive and untroubled. Braced and quieted by this superior tonic, the system obtains needed repose at night, dyspeptic qualms cease to disturb the stomach, and mental inquietude disappears. The habit of body becomes regular, the liver and kidneys are healthfully stimulated, and the system is free from all causes that lead to nervous and difficult sleep. Neuralgia, rheumatism and muscular disorders, and slender from the entire eradicated by this matchless invigorant and regulator.

A Common Cold

Is often the beginning of serious affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes, and Lungs. Therefore, the importance of early and effective treatment cannot be overestimated. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral may always be relied upon for the speedy cure of a Cold or Cough.

Speedily Cured.

I am satisfied that this remedy saved my life.—Jno. Webster, Pawtucket, R. I.

I contracted a severe cold, which, unduly developed into Pneumonia, presenting dangerous and obstinate symptoms. My physician at once ordered the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. His instructions were followed, and the result was a rapid and permanent cure.—H. E. Simpson, Rogers Prairie, Texas.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe Cold which settled on my Lungs. I consulted various physicians, and took the medicines they prescribed, but received only temporary relief. A friend induced me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking two bottles of this medicine I was cured. Since then I have given the Pectoral to my children, and consider it for Colds, Coughs, and All Throat and Lung diseases, ever used in my family.—Robert Vanderpool, Meadville, Pa.

The Best Remedy

Some time ago I took a slight Cold, which, being neglected, grew worse, and settled on my lungs. I had a hacking cough, and was very weak. Those who know me best considered my life to be in great danger. I continued to suffer until I commenced using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Less than one bottle of this valuable medicine cured me, and I feel that I owe the preservation of my life to its curative powers.—Mrs. Ann Lockwood, Akron, New York.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is considered, here, the one great remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs, and is more in demand than any other medicine of its class.—J. F. Roberts, Magnolia, Ark.
